Mammogram

Who should have a mammogram?

The American Cancer Society recommends that all women over the age of 40 have an annual mammogram.

In addition, women at high risk should have a mammogram and an MRI every year, beginning at age 30.

If you have any of the following risk factors for breast cancer, talk with us about the screening schedule that's right for you.

- + Family or personal history of breast cancer or cancers of the ovaries, cervix, uterus or colon
- + No children, or first child after age 35
- + Menopause beginning after age 55
- + Certain types of breast lesions or benign tumors
- + Exposure to radiation before age 30
- + Being overweight
- + Menstruation starting at or before age 12
- + Long-term hormone replacement therapy (HRT)
